In the Break It round of the Harness Arena, teams wrote attacks to trick the agents of all other teams, planted in carriers such as e-mails, documents, and logs. Every successful hit made another team's agent fail its task, so a strong attack cost every other team accuracy.

With the highest ranking in successful hits against the other teams' agents, they earned the Best Breaker award. We honor their creativity, precision, and contribution to making efficient, local, and trustworthy AI agents more robust.
